Enough is Enough

Dear Friends,

I have been truly inspired by the courage and commitment of students across the country who have come together to demand action to address the scourge of gun violence. From Los Angeles to Washington, D.C., these students are making their voices heard, and I was honored to attend the March for our Lives at the State House in Providence to join them in declaring, "enough is enough!"

No one should have to live through the horrors that the students at Marjory Stoneman Douglas endured. Regrettably, gun violence continues to be an epidemic in communities throughout the U.S. However, there are steps we can take to combat this public health menace. In fact, for the first time in decades, we are seeing a bit of movement thanks to the commitment of countless students, parents, teachers, and activists. Congress recently passed a bill that helps strengthen the background check system and lifts the two decade ban on research into the causes of gun violence. But there's so much more we can accomplish together.

CLAMMING UP

Rep. Langevin attended the kick off of Quahog Week – a time to celebrate local

We must pass legislation to require universal background checks and enact a ban on assault weapons, which have no place in our society, let alone in our classrooms. We must ensure that irresponsible gun dealers are held accountable for selling to criminals and that domestic abusers cannot threaten their victims with firearms.

I respect the Second Amendment and believe in the legitimate rights of gun owners to bear arms for the purposes of self-defense or hunting. But we owe it to the innocent victims of gun violence everywhere to enact commonsense laws to help prevent these tragedies from happening in the future. Together, we can be the agents of change our nation's students deserve.

At Long Last

Although we are several months into 2018, I'm pleased Congress was finally able to come together to pass a spending bill that will benefit Rhode Islanders. It increases funding for career and technical education, early childhood development and college affordability while strengthening investments to help combat the opioid epidemic, promote biomedical research, and secure our state election systems. This bill is far from perfect, but I'm proud of the support it provides for important domestic and national security programs.

Delivering Lunch

I always enjoy delivering a meal and spending some time with a homebound individual. During the March for Meals drive, I brought lunch to Ms. Geraldine Ramagalia, a 75-year-old Warwick resident who worked in the Providence school system for 20 years. When discussing Meals on Wheels, she speaks of "coming full circle" from

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

Rep. Langevin joined his Rhode Island Congressional colleagues in announcing a $20 million grant to make needed repairs to Route 37, a major artery connecting Cranston and Warwick. >>

HONORING A RI HERO

Rep. Langevin cosponsored a bill to designate the U.S. Post Office in Bristol after First Sergeant P. Andrew McKenna, Jr., who died while serving in the Army in Afghanistan in 2015. >>

#PROTECTRANSTROOPS

Rep. Langevin denounced the Department of Defense's recommendation to ban transgender individuals from serving in the military. >>

SOCIAL ACCOUNTABILITY

Rep. Langevin called for increased accountability for social media giants, following reports of Cambridge Analytica's misuse of consumers' Facebook data. >>

DELIVERING ON A PROMISE

Rep. Langevin honored the late State Senator Stephen Macomber of Westerly by presenting the Macomber family with military decorations for his service during WWI. >>
